THE STORY OF CHRISTMAS

Notes About the Songs

Putting the Christ Back in Christmas

One morning when I was doing playground duty as a teacher at my school, one of our parents, a disc jockey for a local radio station, walked through the school grounds with a tape recorder. He was recording the children's responses to his questions about Christmas to broadcast on his radio programme. As I listened to the responses I was a bit perturbed that there was little acknowledgement from some of the children that Christmas celebrates the birth of Jesus. Last year I began to write a Christmas play that would allow children to reflect on St Luke's infancy narratives. This song is placed at the beginning of the play and recalls the playground incident with the disc jockey.

Tell Me Story of Christmas

A child acknowledges that Christmas is a wondrous time of the year and expresses a desire to know the Christmas story.

A Voice Cries in the Wilderness

This is a song for the Advent season and is an exhortation to "prepare the way" for "the coming of our God". The song suggests that preparing for God's coming requires a readiness to participate in God's integrity and justice.

Maid of Galilee

The angel Gabriel announces to Mary that God has chosen her to be the mother of Jesus

My Soul is Singing.

Mary's song of joy to Elizabeth praising God's justice and mercy. Luke's Gospel abounds in imagery where the expected order of things is turned upside down...the mountains are made low, the valleys are raised high, the blind see, the deaf hear... Mary sings about the upheaval in society that God's salvation brings: the hungry are fed, the lowly are lifted up, the mighty and the proud are laid low.

Caesar Augustus

Caesar Augustus decrees a census be taken throughout the Roman Empire.

Mary Rode Upon a Donkey

Mary and Joseph find no room in the inn.

I Can Almost Hear the Angels Sing

Anticipates the birth of "the new born King".

Deep Love

The birth of Jesus.

See the Stars Shine Bright

Old Testament prophecies are fulfilled... the poor have good news proclaimed to them. Luke's concern for the oppressed and marginalized in society is one of the distinctive features of his Gospel. This concern is evidenced in Mary's song and the favour shown to the shepherds... the poor and the lowly are the first to hear the good news.

The Story of Christmas

Players

Youngest child and five other children.

Luke. (The name of “Luke” for this character is used simply because this play derives from Luke’s Gospel. The character could be an actual person from the local community who would make a good narrator of the Christmas story. We used our parish priest for this role. He enters riding on a bike because it was a common sight for the children in our community to see him ride by like that.)

Hey kids! I’m your local Disc Jockey from radio 2KID. How are you? I’ve been visiting all the schools in the local area recording children’s voices and broadcasting their thoughts about Christmas over the radio. Now it’s your turn. There are just a few days to go till Christmas. Tell me, what does Christmas mean to you. Speak into the microphone.

Youngest Child

Christmas means Santa comes!

2nd Child

Christmas means we get lots and lots of toys.

3rd Child

Christmas means we get to decorate a Christmas tree.

4th Child

Yeah, with candy canes... then we get to eat ‘em.

5th Child

We get to eat lots of great food... nuts and cherries and plum pudding and custard.

6th Child

I like Christmas because my dad puts up thousands and thousands of fairy lights all over the house. He can’t help himself. Every year he puts up more and more.

D.J.

Hey that’s great kids! I’m going to take this recording back to the studio. Don’t forget to listen to radio 2KID this afternoon.

Exit disc jockey.

6th Child You know I just can't help but think we've forgotten to tell him something else about Christmas that's important.

5th Child Christmas stockings?

6th Child No...

4th Child Santa hats?

6th Child No...

3rd Child Glow sticks?

6th Child Now I remember. We forget to tell him about Jesus! Christmas is Jesus' birthday!

Luke All the people went to their home towns to register their names on the roll. Mary’s husband, Joseph, was from Bethlehem, the birthplace of King David. So Joseph and Mary set out from Nazareth in Galilee and travelled to Bethlehem in Judea.

Enter Mary and Joseph who slowly move about through the following. They knock on an imaginary door. The innkeeper steps forward shaking his head indicating there is no room. He points instead to the stable. All this may be acted out twice because the song is sung two times through.

Mary and Joseph take their places in the stable.

Luke For Mary, the journey to Bethlehem had been exhausting and she knew that soon she would be giving birth to her baby. A stable was the only shelter they could find for the night... but at least it would be warm and dry.
 Not far away some shepherds were guarding their sheep. It was a cold but beautiful night...

Enter the shepherds who take their place stage right. They sit and gaze at the stars as the following is sung. Angels gather behind.

Luke During the night Mary gave birth to her son....

Mary cradles her baby in her arms throughout. Perhaps a child who studies ballet could dance.

Luke Meanwhile, the shepherds had been taking turns to watch their sheep during the night. An angel of the Lord appeared to them and the glory of God shone around them. They were terrified.

Angel of the Lord steps forward from the gathered angels.

Angel of the Lord

“Don’t be afraid. I bring you good news to share with all the people. Today, in the town of David, a saviour has been born to you; he is Christ the Lord. This is how you will know him; you will find him wrapped in strips of cloth and lying in a manger.”
Then, suddenly, a host of angels appeared and began to sing praise to God: “Glory to God in the highest and peace to all people with whom God is pleased.”

Hark The Herald Angels Sing is an alternative song that could be sung here.

Angels take their positions at back of stage.

Luke When the angels went away, the shepherds said to one another...

Shepherds Let us go to Bethlehem to see this thing which the Lord has made known to us.

Luke They hurried away and found Mary and Joseph and the baby Jesus lying in a manger.

Shepherds gather around the Holy Family.

Luke When the shepherds saw the baby Jesus they repeated what the angels had said about him. Every one was astonished. And Mary treasured all these things and kept them in her heart.

And that is the story of Christmas.

Close with a carol: O Come All Ye Faithful, Silent Night, O Holy Night.

Notes About the Carols

Included on the Deep Love CD are four enduring Christmas carols. O Holy Night and Silent Night are two of the most beautiful of all Christmas carols, while O Come All Ye Faithful and Hark the Herald Angels Sing are two of the most stirring. The lyrics and chords used for the recording are reproduced here and I hope they are in a key that most people can manage to sing and play.

O Holy Night

The lyrics of this carol were written by Frenchman Placide Cappeau in 1847. He lived near the city of Avignon where he was associated with the wine industry and wrote the occasional poem. One day when he was about to embark on a business trip to Paris he was approached by his parish priest to write a Christmas poem. Inspiration came on the journey and while in Paris he took his poem to Jewish composer Adolphe Adam (1803-1856) who set the words to music. Adam had established his reputation as a composer of stage productions which included his masterpiece, Giselle. The song was translated into English by John Sullivan Dwight (1813-1893). Most recent recordings of the song focus on the first verse only.

Silent Night

The background to this most cherished of carols makes for a cute story. Joseph Mohr, the parish priest of the alpine village of Oberndorf in Austria, wrote his poem, Stille Nacht, in 1816. The story goes that mice had eaten out the bellows of the church organ, and Mohr approached his friend Hanz Gruber to compose a guitar accompaniment for his poem to be performed that night at the Church of St Nicholas. The music was composed in time for midnight mass, Christmas Eve, 1818. The imagination conjures up the poignant image of a village church bedecked with snow, with the sound of gentle guitar, and the beautiful melody of Stille Nacht, Heilige Nacht floating on the air... Ah, to have been there!

O Come All Ye Faithful

Authorship of this carol has been traced to John Francis Wade, an Englishman born around 1711. A Catholic fleeing religious persecution he eventually settled in France. The song was written in Latin and its alternative title is Adeste Fidelis. The song was translated into English by Frederick Oakeley and William Thomas Brooke.

Hark The Herald Angels Sing

Prolific Methodist hymn writer, Charles Wesley, wrote the words of this carol when he heard the bells chiming as he walked to church one Christmas morning. Later the words were set to music composed by Felix Mendelssohn. The song was first published in 1856.
